The following list identifies updates to the detection engine in the Shavlik OEM Hotfix:

- FIXES

- Corrected scan engine detection logic for .NET Framework 1.1 Service Pack 1
- Corrected an issue where a scan result would recommend installation of MDAC 2.8 SP1, even though this Service Pack is not available for deployment
- Corrected an issue where deployment of Windows XP SP2 would occasionally fail, citing issues with the digital signature of the Service Pack
- Corrected an issue in the deployment engine that could have caused the deployment process to 'hang' when deployment is initiated from a hyperthreading or multi-processor console
- Corrected an issue that, in some instances, prevented some patches from being automatically populated in the Patch Information section of the left navigator
- Corrected an issue where patches for certain products were not automatically populated in the Patch Information navigator section. These patches would appear in the navigator only after they had been identified during a scan
- Added separate detection for IE6 when on NT4
- Added separate detection for Windows XP Tablet PC Edition, Small Business Server 2000 and Windows Small Business Server 2003
